National Autism Awareness Week

This week is National Autism Awareness week. The children were part of an assembly on Tuesday morning in which we used some suggested resources from the National Autistic Society to discuss what having autism can mean. Please use the link below to look at these with your child if you want to share this further. We discussed how having difficulties means that people around us need to be kind and supportive, and we revisited our inclusion message that 'it's OK to be different!'.

I feel I say this every term, it's been a busy and productive term. Our children continue to be a source of pride and inspiration to myself and the team. We have thoroughly enjoyed sharing all the success and progress at Parents' Evening this week.

I want to say a huge thank you to all the support you as parents and family members give to your children and our school.

I also want to say a huge thank you to our staff team who provide care, dedication and high quality education. This term has seen the staff team praised and recognised for their skill and devotion both in our external teaching review and our Church School inspection. Well done and thank you.

School reopens on Tuesday 23rd April and clubs start the first week back!

Happy Easter

Wishing all our children, families, staff, governors, volunteers and friends a wonderful Easter and I look forward to the Summer Term.
